SOME MEMBERS OF THE VIRGINIA HOUSE OF DELEGATES WHO ARE PERHAPS DESTINED TO FIGURE IN BROADER FIELDS AND TO CLIMB HIGHER ON THE LADDER OF POPULAR FAVOR.

Hon. E. H. Barclay, the One-Armed Hero of Lexington.

HE WILL STAND FOR THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION

To Congress in the Old Fighting Tenth District.

THE POPULAR MEMBER FROM CAMPBELL COUNTY.

Cap. Featherston May Run for Lieutenant-Governor.

HIS ABILITY AS A LEADER

Has Been Fully Demonstrated on Several Occasions During the Two Terms He Has Represented His Constituency in the House of Delegates.

Among the leaders of the present rouse of Delegates there are several who, from present indications, will soon figure in oroader fields, and perhaps step up higher in the scale of popular favor. One of these is Hon. N. B. Early, Jr., the brilliant young member from Greene and Madison, who, at the sollcitation of his friends, has consented to make the race for Senator from the 17th District, which, for the past six years, has been so ably represented by H.L. George W. Morris, who has been recently elected Judge of the Corporation Court of the of Charlottesville.

city of Charlottesville.

Mr. Early was born in Albemarie county thirty years ago, and springs from an ancestry of Irish descent. He was educated at the Fishburn School, the Virginia Millitary institute and the University of Virginia, studying law under the late lamented John B. Minor.

He won high honors in the literary societies of each of these institutions, and at Lexington rose from private to captain, passing through the four years of the cadetship without a single demerit.

He was a leading athlete during his college days, and became famous as a football player on the University team, and as centre rush stood champian of the South, being classed with Baliett, of Princeton, Adams, of Pennsylvania, and Stillman, of Yale.

Mr. Early entered politics soon after leaving the University, and has done loyal work on the hustings and in the councils of his party.

work on the hustings and in the councils of his party.

He has been twice returned to the House of Delegates, in which body he has taken high rank as a legislator, being a member of three of the most important committees, namely: Courts of Justice. Schools and Colleges and Militia and Police, the latter of which he is chairman. is chairman.

His career as a representative has been, that of a diligent and faithful public servant, and he has especially guarded the interests of the farmer, the laborer and the mechanic.

He was a member of the special committee to invite Colonel Bryan to address the Legislature: is a great admirer of the distinguished Nebraskan, and a time helicars in the doubtines of the Chibeliever in the doctrines of the Chi firm believer in the doctrines of the Chi-cago platform. As a speaker, Mr. Ear-ly has few superiors in the House, and in debate he is always eloquent and force-ful. He is popular and influential with his colleagues: is possessed of strong per-sonality, modest and dignified in his bearing, and would make an admirable

Senator.

The district in which he is a candidate embraces Albemarle and Greene, and he has assurances of support from the leading Democrats of both counties. Indications point strongly to his success. HON, T. C. PILCHER.

HON. T. C. PIACHER.

The friends of the Hon. T. C. Pilcher, of Fauquier, will insist that his broad legislative experiences shall be carried into the national arena; and are, therefore, pressing him to become a candidate for Congress in the 8th District. They point out that it has been a number of years since Fauquier has had the honor, and that in "Farmer" Pilcher they have a man who would fitly represent the interests of the entire district.

Mr. Pilcher is well and favorably known to the public men throughout the State, having been a prominent figure in the national legislator. MR, SPEAKER.

Mr. Pilcher is a prosperous farmer and merchant at Midland, Va., where he is largely interested in the lumber industry. Should he decide to enter the race for Congressional honors, his friends say he would make a most formidable candidate, and that his chance of success would be excellent.

Hon, E. W. Saunders, of Franklin, who for a number of years, has been the Democratic leader on the floor of the House, and who is now its very able speaker, has been, and is now being, urged by his many friends to become a candidate for the office of Attorney-Generai, though he has not yet decided to do so.

There are few more profound lawyers in the State for his age than Speaker Saunders, and no one doubts that he would make a splendid attorney-general, should he be elevated to that office.

He has been a member of the House for about fifteen years, and is one of the most powerful and effective debaters who has served in the Legislature for years. As an orator, too, his reputation is wide. His speech in accepting the chair at the Roanoke Convention three years ago, over which he presided with so much ability, was a magnificent effort, and the one returning his thanks to the House for placing him in his present high station was everywhere regarded as a perfect gem of oratory.

Speaker Saunders is less than forty years of age, is modest and unassuming in his manner, and is possessed of splendid business qualifications.

He is rarely seen about the hotel lobbles, where public men are want to gather, but when the Legislature is in session he boards at a private house, wherebeing a great student—he may be undisturbed in his labors. He has strong personal and political friends in every section of the the Commonwealth, and if they are able to prevail upon him to permit the use of his name, he will be a most formidable, candidate.

CAPTAIN BARCIAY.

Hon. E. H. Barclay, the one-armed here from Lexington, has decided to stand for the Democratic homination for Congress in the old fighting 10th.

Captain Barclay was born in Rock-in the old field school of that day and at Washington College.

He entered the Confederate army at the age of fourteen and a half years, as a private, and rose to the rank of captain. He lost his left hand at the battle of Monocacy Bridge on July 9, 1861.

He has been the editor of the Lexington Gazette for the past 'twenty-eight years and never held a public office until elected to the present House of Delegates.

Captain Barclay has been a life-ling Democrat and has, through his paper and otherwise, rendered much valuable service to the party. He has many friends in the contest, and is in the race to stay.

He is a good stumper, and when in debate he speaks with great vigor.

Up to this time there are four candidates for the nomination, and the fight will, no doubt, be a lively one.

He is an able debater and has a real attractive way of speaking.

For a number of years he has been active in politics and canvassed the Second District for Congressman Young in his two fights for Congress.

ple will be in safe hands.

FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

It is generally believed by the friends of Captain J. C. Featherston, of Campbell, that he will accede to their wishes before the Legislature adjourns and announce himself a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. Captain Feathreston is serving his second term in the House, where he has made a most enviable record. He has fully demonstrated his ability as a leader on several occasions. Notably in his fight for the tonnage tax bill at the present session, and in the management of his reform measures during the session of 1807-98.

He was educated at the Kentucky Military Institute, was a soldier throughout the war, having been wounded at the battle of Gettysburg, and is deservedly popular with the survivors of the lost cause, whose interests he has always defended by his voice and vote. He is one of the most successful farmers of the State and has held important agricultural positions, both State and Federal.

A committee consisting of Generals
